- In Gusto on the left side menu, click on Taxes & compliance > Tax credits

7. COMPANY EXEMPTIONS If changes are made, an Engagement case with Gusto will automatically be created.

a) CO FAMILI Employer Portion ← Click for more information

▪ Determine your liability from the look-back period

- If you have CO employees, count the total number of W2 employees who worked for you during 2024 alone, regardless of the state they worked in
- If the number is less than 10 employees for the whole year, you are exempt from paying the employer portion of FAMILI
- If you had 10 or more individual employees working in 2024, you still may not be liable for the employer portion:
 - Count how many weeks in 2024 each individual employee worked even just one day.
 - Include employees on leave if they are expected to return to active employment.
 - How many employees worked at least one day for at least 20 weeks in 2024? (Does not have to be 20 consecutive weeks.)
 - If fewer than 10 employees worked for at least one hour for at least 20 weeks in 2024, you are not liable for the employer portion of CO FAMILI.
 - Let Easytrack know if your liability for the CO FAMILI employer portion is different in 2025 than it was in 2024.

b) Paid Family Medical Leave in other states

- If you have PFML in a state other than CO and you aren't sure how to determine whether or not you are liable, please reach out to us at support@easytrackpayroll.com.

c) SUTA

- If you are a SUTA exempt employer and you have added additional workers in 2024, let Easytrack know so we can determine if you are still exempt.

d) S-corp owners are exempt from FAMILI and should already be set up this way in Gusto. See below for more details.

e) Other types of business owners and workers MIGHT be exempt from FAMILI

If you are a sole proprietor, or an owner of a family business that does not have any employees, or you use an S-Corp business structure and are still unsure whether you qualify as self-employed or as an employer, here are some things to know:

- The structure of a business isn't what matters for FAMILI compliance. What matters is whether the business has qualifying employees.
- Not sure whether you, a relative, fellow owner or business partner counts as an "employee"? Under the FAMILI Act, an "employee" is any individual...performing labor or services for the benefit of another, irrespective of whether the common-law relationship of master and servant exists. The FAMILI Act's definition of "employee" includes a two-part exception:

If a person is both primarily free from control in the performance of their work, and that work is part of their independent profession or trade, then that person is not an employee, and payments to them would not be subject to premiums. §8-13.3-503 (7) C.R.S. Individuals who meet this exception would be considered “self-employed,” and their participation in FAMLI is optional.

- If you determine that as a business owner, you should be exempt from FAMLI, see 8b below and contact Easytrack.

8. S-Corp Owners

a) If your company is an s-corp, confirm that ALL 2% or greater shareholders who are on payroll are listed as s-corp owners in Gusto

- In Gusto, go to People > Team members and select the owner from the list of employees
- In the Employment Details section, next to 2% Shareholder, it should say YES
- If it says No where it should say Yes, click on edit to the right and change No to Yes on the bottom line, then Save
- If you do not have the option to change to Yes, contact Easytrack .

b) S-corp owners FAMLI exemption

- NOTE: S-Corp owners cannot be on the company's FAMLI account. If an owner wants to opt in to FAMLI, they have to set up a separate account for self-employed people and submit their wage reports and payments manually. This cannot be done in the payroll software. Additionally, the owner opting in will have to commit to participate for three years.
- You can confirm that the s-corp owner(s) is marked as exempt from FAMLI by clicking on People > Team members and select the owner from the list of employees
- Scroll almost all the way to the bottom of the page to the Tax Exemptions section
- You should see Active Exemptions for:
Colorado Family and Medical Leave Insurance (FAMLI) - Employee, Colorado Family and Medical Leave Insurance (FAMLI) - Employer
- If you do not see this, contact Easytrack at support@easytrackpayroll.com.
